BILL McLELLAN, Athletic Director

Only the third man to own the title of Athletic Director at Clemson over the past 46 years, Bill McLellan was elevated to his present position February 4, 1971, following what had been more than a decade of service to the University's athletic organization.

A native of Hamer, S. C., the 46-year old McLellan graduated from Dillon High School and entered Clemson where he earned a pair of football letters, and was a member of the Tigers' 1952 Gator Bowl team.

He joined the athletic staff May 1, 1958 from Clemson's Department of Agricultural Economics and Seed Certification where he had spent one year as assistant agronomist and two years as assistant economist.

Although carrying the title of Assistant Business Manager, McLellan has been credited with handling the majority of the department's athletic business and operation long before his appointment into his present role.

In 1966, McLellan was named Assistant Athletic Director, and two years later was appointed Associate Athletic Director.

During his reign as Athletic Director, Clemson's athletic program has experienced a major upheaval.

The Tigers can boast of the finest athletic facilities in not only the Atlantic Coast Conference, but in the South as well.

The modern and spacious Jervay Athletic Center is one of the most complete facilities in America, and this complex serves as the home for Clemson's 18 sports — 12 men's and six women's.

The basketball Tigers play before packed crowds in attractive Littlejohn Coliseum, and many of the Clemson games are telecast on either regional or national networks.

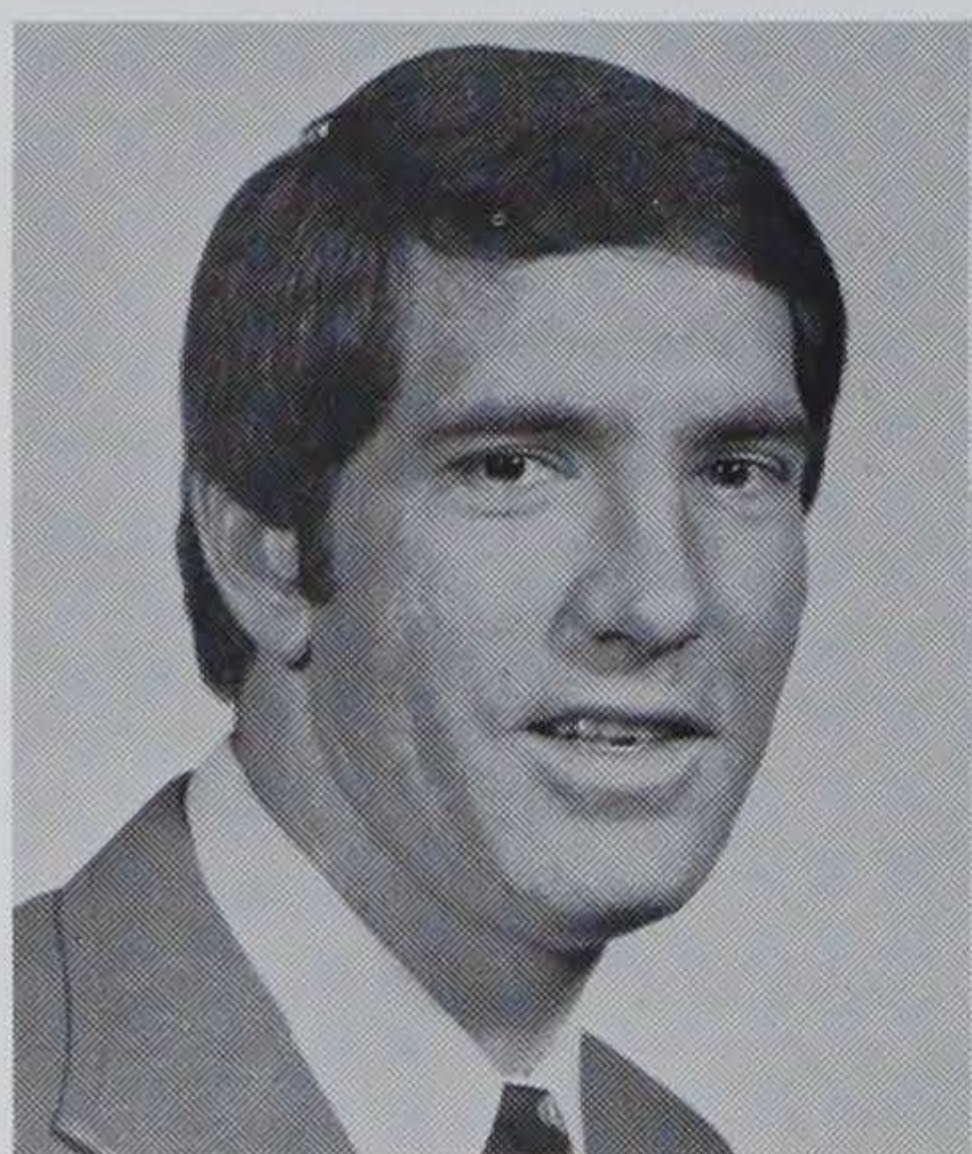

And the football Tigers, after averaging better than 47,000 at home last fall, will be playing in a remodeled Memorial Stadium this year that will have some 53,000 permanent seats.

But conference titles and All-American honors have come to other sports as well, and McLellan's direction has given Clemson a program that was ranked 21st in the nation in overall excellence in 1977-78. Moreover, no less than six Clemson teams were ranked in the nation's top twenty — football, cross country, fencing, soccer, golf, and baseball.

McLellan earned a BS degree from Clemson in agronomy in '54 and a master's in agricultural economics in '56. He is married to the former Ann Rogers of Fork, S. C. They have four children — Suzy, who just graduated from Winthrop; Bill, who recently finished at Spartanburg Methodist College; Cliff, a sophomore at Tennessee Tech; and Arch Anna, a junior at Pendleton High School.

DANNY FORD, Head Football Coach

When Charley Pell resigned as head football coach at Clemson for a similar position at the University of Florida, the Student Affairs Committee of the Clemson Board of Trustees only considered one name as Pell's successor — Danny Ford. Ford not only had the backing of Pell, but also that of members of the Clemson football team. He was assistant head coach and offensive line coach of the Tigers.

After two meetings between Ford and the committee on the morning of December 5, 1978, it was the unanimous opinion of the committee that Ford should be named Clemson head football coach.

At a press conference held December 10, 1978, Pell relinquished the head coaching duties of the Gator Bowl to Ford. Originally, Pell had been scheduled to coach his final Clemson game against Ohio State in Jacksonville. But Pell made his move "on what I consider best for the Clemson football team."

Like Pell, Ford played his football under Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant at the University of Alabama, first an offensive end his first two years and an offensive tackle as a senior.

A native of Gadsden, Ala., the 30-year-old Ford earned his BS degree in industrial arts in 1970 and was awarded his MA in special education from Alabama in 1971.

Ford played in three consecutive bowls — 1968 Cotton, 1968 Gator and 1969 Liberty — with the Crimson Tide. After his graduation, he remained there as a graduate assistant for two years (1970-71) and was made a full assistant for the next two seasons (1972-73) at 'Bama. The Tide went to four more post-season games while Ford was on the staff.

The new Tiger coach then accepted a position of assistant coach on the new staff of Jimmy Sharpe in 1974 who had been named head coach at Virginia Tech. He remained there for three seasons (1974-75-76), but was beckoned to Clemson by Pell in January, 1977, who by then was Tiger head coach. Pell and Ford served on the VPI staff together two years.

Ford has been given much credit by Pell for molding the Clemson offensive scheme, which in the past two seasons, has won 18 games, scored 579 points and been invited to play in two post-season games.

A former All-Southeastern Conference tackle, as well as an All-SEC academic selection, Ford served as team captain of the 1969 Alabama team.

He is married to the former Deborah Anderson of Attalla, Ala., and they are the parents of two daughters, Jennifer, 5, and Ashleigh, 3.

NEW ATTENDANCE RECORDS SET

If the Gator Bowl attendance this month equals last year's record setting mark (72,289), this will mean that the Clemson football team played before over 600,000 fans this season. A new home attendance record was set this past season, beating the old mark by over 70,000. The Tigers averaged better than 53,600 at six home games, with the South Carolina attendance of over 63,000 setting a record for Clemson, the State of South Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

BUTLER, FULLER, RATCHFORD SET RECORDS

Clemson has several individuals who already own career statistical records. Quarterback Steve Fuller has records for total offense (5,935 yards), passing yards (4,236) and touchdown responsibility (43); Jerry Butler has the career reception mark (135 passes) and yards receiving record (2,179); and Warren Ratchford has the kickoff return mark for number (44) and for yards returned (968), most of those coming prior to the 1978 season. He only had nine returns for 212 yards this past campaign.

VARN HAS INTERCEPTION YARDAGE MARK

Clemson defensive back Rex Varn, grandson of former South Carolina Coach, the late Rex Enright, has intercepted nine passes in the past three seasons and has returned them for 270 yards (a school record). Five of the interception returns have been for 13 yards or better, including one 90-yard return for a touchdown against Maryland in 1977 and another for 94 yards against N. C. State this season which resulted in six points.

Nov. 25 South Carolina at Clemson

Weather: Sunny, 58°

Attendance: 63,479

Clemson won its 10th game of the season and third consecutive from arch-rival South Carolina, downing the Gamecocks 41-23. Clemson set a record for the largest attendance to ever witness a football game in the ACC. The Tigers jumped out to a quick 14-0 lead before South Carolina had their first offensive play. Clemson held a 21-0 lead in the first period, as three Tiger running backs rushed for over 100 yards, also a Clemson record. Lester Brown rushed for 121 yards to become the 2nd player in Clemson history to rush for over 1,000 yards in a season.

The Clemson IPTAY Club

IPTAY, organized in 1934 by the late Dr. Ruppert H. (Rube) Fike, completed its 44th year this past June 30th. And for the 12th consecutive year, contributions exceeded those of the previous 12 months. And for the first time in history, over $1 million was realized by the club.

IPTAY stood for "I Pay Ten A Year" in the early days, and the first club's membership list included 185 members.

Today, more than 10,000 members form IPTAY, which because of inflation, now means "I Pay Thirty a Year."

Sometimes called "the finest collegiate scholarship club in America," IPTAY funds are used for the sole purpose of educating student-athletes. Not one single penny has ever been used for any other purpose.

For additional information, write George Bennett, Executive Secretary of IPTAY, P. O. Box 31, Clemson, 29631.

TIGERS 7th IN AP, 8th IN UPI

Clemson enters the Gator Bowl ranked seventh in The AP poll and eighth in UPI. This is the highest the Tigers have ever been ranked this late in the season. In the first poll of 1959, Clemson was ranked fifth after defeating North Carolina, 20-18. The next week, despite downing Virginia, 47-0, Clemson dropped to sixth, and in the third game, lost to Georgia Tech and fell out of the top 10. The team was ranked 11th in the final poll.

FULLER JUST SHY OF 6,000 YARDS

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller needs 65 yards of total offense in the Gator Bowl to have 6,000 yards in his career. However, the NCAA Statistics Service does not recognize any yardage accumulated in a post-season bowl game. Therefore, Fuller has 5,743 yards in the NCAA computer since he gained 192 yards against Pittsburgh in last year's Gator Bowl.

TIGER WINNING STREAK NATION'S SECOND LONGEST

Clemson now has the second longest winning streak in the nation with nine games. The Tigers have not lost since the second game of the '78 season and rank behind Penn State in the longest winning streak category. Penn State has 19 in a row. Alabama has won eight in a row, Michigan State and Southern Cal each have seven straight wins and Michigan has six.

FULLER'S INTERCEPTION AVOIDANCE LOW

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller and Michigan signal caller Rick Leach lead the nation this year in pass reception avoidance. Each of the seniors has only been intercepted four times during the year. Fuller has one of the lowest career avoidance marks in NCAA history. The Tiger quarterback has been intercepted 17 times in 511 attempts (not counting bowl appearances). This gives Fuller a pass avoidance of 3.33. The lowest in NCAA history is 3.2% held by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa.

Clemson Memorial Stadium — "Death Valley"

In the past 37 seasons, 28 teams have made appearances in Clemson Memorial Stadium, now pretty widely known as "Death Valley" eight teams (George Washington, Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Auburn, Texas A&M, Florida State, Maryland and Notre Dame) have an edge on the Tigers' home ground and five of these (George Washington, Kentucky, Florida State, Texas A&M and Notre Dame), have just played one game in Memorial Stadium.

Clemson has shutout opponents 31 times in "Death Valley" (Presbyterian 9 times; N. C. State 4; Wake Forest 3; Virginia, Furman, Citadel and Duquesne twice each; and VPI, Auburn, Duke, North Carolina, Texas Christian, Villanova and Maryland, once each). The Tigers have been shutout 10 times at home in 37 seasons, the last time being in 1976 when Georgia blanked Clemson 41-0.

Between the Maryland shutout in 1953 and the Duke blanking in 1962, the Tigers scored in 38 consecutive home games.

There have been three ties in 158 games played in the stadium, one with Mississippi State in 1949, one with Georgia in 1963, and the 1976 18-18 Duke deadlock.

In 1974 the field was named The Frank Howard Field of Clemson Memorial Stadium in honor of the Tigers' legendary coach Frank Howard.

1949 GATOR BOWL MOST EXCITING

The 1949 Gator Bowl game, played January 1st that year between Clemson and Missouri, was voted several years ago as the most exciting Gator Bowl game ever played. In that one, Clemson edged Missouri, 24-23.

School Colors and Nickname

The late William J. Latimer, a 1906 graduate of Clemson College, did some extensive research on the football program at his alma mater, and offered the following in regard to the school's nickname and colors:

Professor Walter Merritt Riggs, who coached Clemson's first varsity football team in 1896, and who also served as head coach again in 1899, is said to have "planted the seed" for the school's grid program.

In referring to the players from that first team, Latimer said, "Due to the lack of helmets and head protection they (the players) wore long hair. These long manes might have gained them the name of Lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jerseys and stockings that resembled tigers. The latter nickname seemed to stick."

Latimer then observed about John Heisman's 1900 Clemson team: "They had been called Tigers early in their career. And Clemson used the insignia of a Tigers' head with bared fangs, with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson' before Heisman's day."

Latimer's findings are substantiated by the fact that Riggs had played football at Auburn (nicknamed Tigers) and that its colors were orange and blue.

The official colors of the school are Northwest Purple and Burnt Orange, with the predominant colors on today's athletic uniforms being orange and white.

Joe Sherman '34, former Clemson sports publicist, news bureau director, and director of Clemson's alumni relations, offered the following in his book, The Clemson Tigers, which was published in 1976:

"It is extremely doubtful that anyone can tell you with certainty how the Clemson colors swung from purple (and a rather pale purple, at that) and gold to what for several years was described as 'Northwestern purple and burnt orange.'

"But that the colors have changed, unofficially if not officially, is a fact and there is a story about it that is probably as good as any other explanation.

"It says that in the early years of Jess Neely's tenure, he found it almost impossible to get uniforms in purple and gold that would be 'color fast.' In other words, between constant exposure to both the weather and the washing machines, the purple and gold faded markedly and became difficult, if not impossible, to recognize for what they were supposed to be.

"So, working with professional color people in the school of textiles and with sporting goods manufacturers, Neely finally arrived at deeper colors (a slightly deeper purple and a gold that became orange) that were more color fast in that they held up better under the rays of the sun, the agitations of the washing machine and the carry-over from season to season."

Still, most people believe that the purple and orange are the true colors.

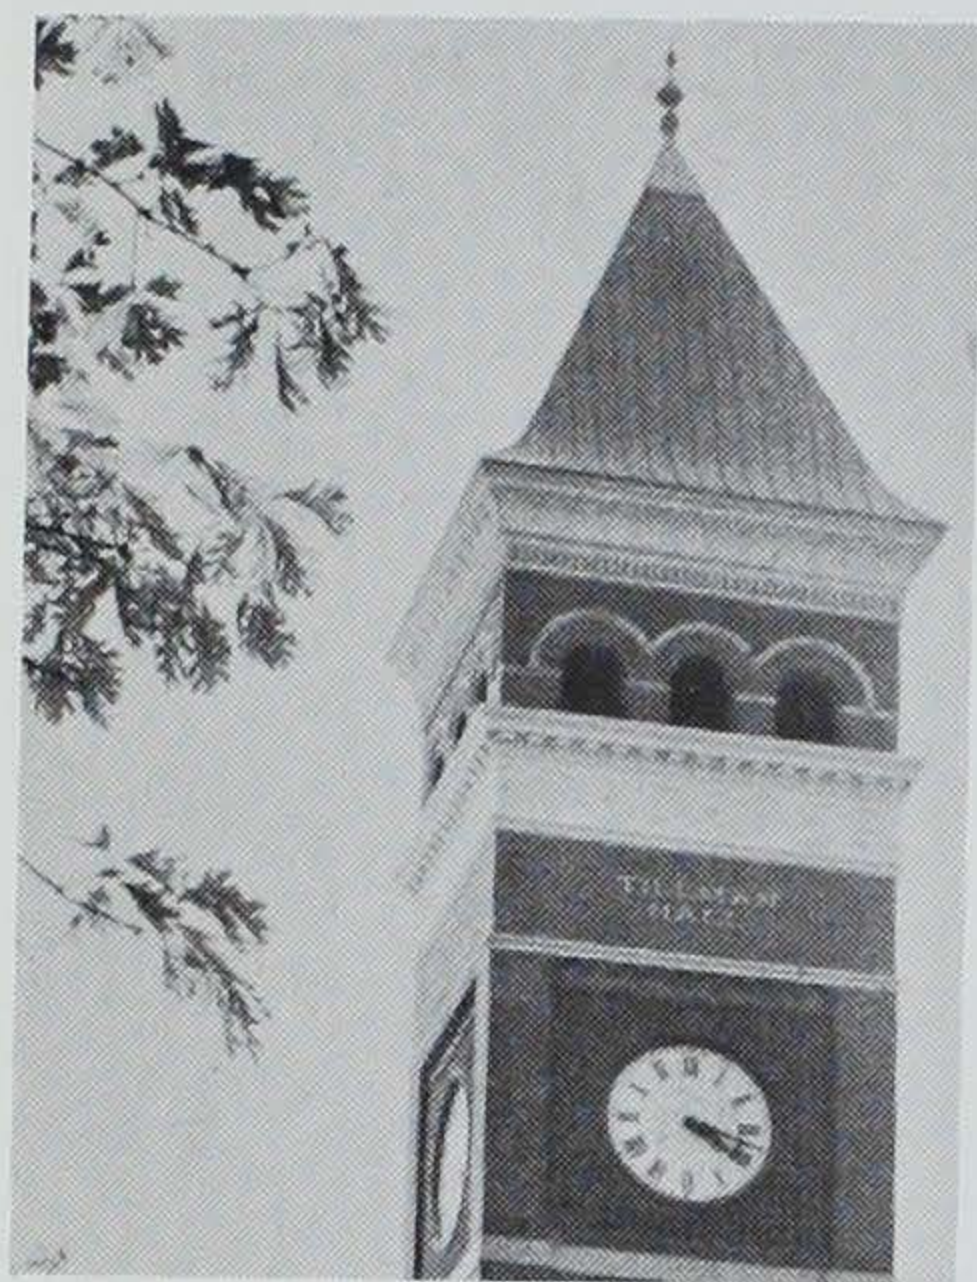

The Clemson Tiger was modified somewhat in the summer of 1970, and to separate him from the other tigers at other schools, the University adopted the Tiger Paw. The Paw did not replace the Tiger, but the two go hand-in-hand, or should we say hand-in-foot.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY

"... this side of Heaven"

"Clemson is just a little this side of Heaven — one stop before Heaven, you might say."

Those are the words of Joe Sherman '34 who gave 34½ years of service to his alma mater before he retired as the University's Director of Alumni Relations in June of 1977.

In actuality, Clemson University's 600-acre campus, located in the northwest corner of South Carolina, lies in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and is surrounded by the sparkling blue waters of Lake Hartwell. More than 70 modern, well-equipped buildings now occupy the area that once was Fort Hill, the homestead of U. S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun and University Founder Thomas G. Clemson.

The University's heritage is maintained, however, by the many old trees, lots of open green areas, and quiet walkways. From several points on campus and around this lovely college town, Lake Hartwell and the Blue Ridge Mountains provide a spectacular and inspiring view.

The Tillman clock tower, which is visible from just about everywhere on campus, and the Outdoor Theatre, which is the scene of concerts and pep rallies, are among traditional landmarks. They become comforting and familiar friends to everyone who becomes a part of Clemson.

The students, hailing from 46 states and 43 foreign countries, are offered 78 fields of study in nine undergraduate colleges, and 54 areas of graduate study.

The undergraduate academic units are the Colleges of Agricultural Sciences; Architecture; Education; Engineering; Forest and Recreation Resources; Industrial Management and Textile Science; Liberal Arts; Nursing; and Sciences.

Of the University's total enrollment of 11,478, the actual on-campus figure is 10,471, of which 61 per cent are male and 39 per cent female.

Sherman once wrote an article about Clemson on the theme that "There's Something In These Hills." It said, in part:

"There's something in these hills that brings together and binds together and holds together men and women of all persuasions, of all heights, sizes, weights, and cultural backgrounds — something that cuts across every difference, spans every gap, penetrates every wall — something that makes a man or a woman stand taller, feel better and say to all within earshot, 'I went to Clemson!' "

The play that clinched the Atlantic Coast Conference football championship for Clemson has just occurred and there's no doubt in the minds of Steve Fuller (4) and Marvin Sims (31). Needing a first down to keep possession, Harold Gogins (obscure behind Fuller's legs) gained 10 yards which enabled the Tigers to run out the clock. (Photo by John Hamlin, Danville, Va.)
